

CHRISTIE NOLAN

Christie is the Founder of Mission Matters Consulting and started working with Mosaic in January 2025. Based in Sarasota, Florida, she supports Mosaic clients with strategic planning, governance model and policy reviews, board effectiveness and leadership development.

With over two decades of experience as a consultant, nonprofit executive and community foundation vice president, Christie brings deep expertise in governance, policy development and strategic advising across the public and nonprofit sectors. She has worked with a wide range of clients, including statewide public pensions, Cities of Sarasota and North Port, the ACLU of Florida, The Washington Ballet and the American Physical Society.

Christie is known for her ability to guide boards and executives through complex problem-solving and strategy work. She holds an M.S. in Industrial-Organizational Psychology and a B.A. in Psychology from Purdue University, and has completed certifications through BoardSource, Coaches Training Institute, Raise Together®, the University of South Florida and the Myers-Briggs Institute.

Christie also serves as lead curriculum developer for the Gulf Coast Board Institute, training board members across local, state and national organizations to strengthen governance and organizational impact.
